“ An early morning text from Barbara got my attention. She could see that I was active on Facebook and knew I was awake." I'm heading to pick up breakfast and wondered if I could bring some to you." My first thought was "Oh, no, Im headed back to bed" something I often did. But I stopped myself. That is Barbara, my sweet friend, I thought, so I quickly said yes. She had already been diagnosed with pancreatic cancer and knew the prognosis was not good. Soon she arrived at my door with food and drinks in hand. The time that followed was so precious to me, and the last we would have together this side of heaven. Her sweet Christian fellowship was shared with many others throughout her whole life. She has finished the course, she has kept the faith. Her work here is over. May we meet again. Glory and praises to God.

“ A wonderful Christian lady who remained faithful to God and the church. She kept the faith and fought a great battle with Satan. Now, she can rest in the peace of eternity. May God's loving comfort and peace be with her family and friends.

“ A fine Christian lady who faithfully served God and the church in her daily walk of life. She has left an example for all to follow that brought her happiness and Godly peace even in the shadows of the storms she endured in life, now she rests with her creator and Lord. May God’s loving comfort bring peace to her family and friends.
