“ I never knew Mr. Huddleston, but we must've had a mutual friend at one time because he called me on the phone and introduced himself to me. We talked about Bluegrass and he would sing songs to me over the phone that he wrote. He always wanted me to record his songs but I never got the opportunity. But he generously offered me his music collection and requested me to send him an external hard drive to load the music on. Never thinking I'd ever get it returned or ever hear from him again, one day, the hard drive came back to me in the mail. It was loaded with great Bluegrass and Gospel music. I will forever be grateful for that gift. I wish I had met this kind soul. Rest in peace.
