I had the joy of having Brandy as my student for two years at Northwest. No matter how bad the day or what her personal problems might have been she lit the room with her smile when she came to class. She assumed the role of class mom, and made sure we had cake and cookies for birthdays, complete with balloons and whatever other decorations she felt were needed.

When she became ill during her second year she arranged her schedule so she wouldn't have to miss classes. She was never late with an assignment and never made an excuse. Instead, she laughed and giggled, kept going and made sure the rest of us were OK.

She wasn't just one of a kind, she was the only one of her kind. I'm thankful I was able to share a few years with her.
