“ I called him Uncle Don, he was one of the nicest gentlemen I ever knew. He was one of my dads closest friends. He is now with Aunt Nancy, my mothers closest friend and Max. We grew up across the street from his family and always loved hearing his voice when he would call. I'll always remember dad and uncle Don in a cherry tree in his front yard when we were kids when they worked together at Monsanto. It breaks my dads heart that he can't be with you during this time of loss. Our thoughts and prayers are with Stan and his family.
