“ A former neighbor of mine in our teenage years, Donna Gail married my good friend and classmate Ted Garrard. They seemed to be the perfect couple. She was a faithful loving wife to him and he loved her dearly. She was a sweet, loving and talented Christian lady. I remember the beautiful song that was played at Ted's funeral of her singing. Theyre making beautiful music together now!

“ What a sweet lady!

I have literally known her all my life. As a kid I stayed at her home countless nights. I've been fed by her, hugged by her, scolded by her, patched up by her (after injuries), schooled by her in Rook and spades, and attacked repeatedly by her cat "Daisy" (which will forever be a pejorative and a euphemism for "Devil" in my book ;) She was always classy, the epitome of a Southern Christian Lady.....Finally united with her beau. I'm sure Ted is smiling today!

Our loss is heaven's gain.

My thoughts and prayers and love go out to Sanford and Robin.

I love you both.

In Him,

Don Campbell
