“ My mother worked, but Dot was a stay at home mom. When a mother was needed to show up at school for a party, Dot was there for us all. My mother would bake something and Dot would bring it and play mother for which ever one needed her. I remember her loading the three of us and her bunch and going to my great-grandparents land where we would cut down Christmas trees and load them in the back of her stationwagon. I'm so sad my brothers (and that you are) for your loss. You have all been such a big part of our lives.
