“I say let me never be complete, I say may I never be content, I say deliver me from Swedish furniture, I say deliver me from clever arts, I say deliver me from clever skin and perfect teeth, I say you have to give up! I say evolve, and let the chips fall where they may!"

“ Some folks only knew Jeremy by the name Virgil.

I had the privilege of endless memories of running thru Alyria, Dungeons deep, and mountains far. Slaying NPC's with magic and swords.

I knew him for 20 years on a text base game called Materia Magica. The adventures we had were endless.

Blessings to you and your family in these hard times.

“ Jeremy's positive attitude during his sickness was truly an inspiration. It was hard seeing a former classmate battle something like this, but you gave it all you had, and you will be missed by many.

“ Jeremy was not only a fellow behavior analyst, he was also friend. He would call to talk about a case and it would quickly evolve into a wonderful discussion about college football and his Crimson Tide and my Buckeyes. I will miss our talks. RIP buddy.
